

An American Shelf in London When Russian-born architect Andrei Saltykov designed his new home in the United Kingdom, he made a massive bookshelf modeled on the Lower 48 states for the living room. And lest far-flung Alaska and Hawaii feel left out, he made clever use of their iconic forms in the bathrooms: Hawaii as a series of towel hooks and nooks and hulking Alaska as a handy shelf over the tub.

PROJECT:
Saltykov Residence
ARCHITECT:
Lacey & Saltykov
Architects Ltd.
LOCATION:
London, England
PUBLISHED:
October 2012
PHOTOGRAPHER:
Will Fryce

Alaska and Hawaii shelves
designed by Lacey & Saltykov
Architects Ltd.
laceysaltykov.com

Oval 170 bathtub
by Svedbergs and Pelican Copenhagen
for Svedbergs
svedbergs.com

Silver dual-control
wall bathtub filler
by David Chipperfield
for Ideal Standard
ideal-standard.co.uk

Carbonized solid strand woven bamboo
flooring with Uniclic BONA coating
by the Bamboo
Flooring Company
bambooflooringcompany.com

Ceramic Tiles
by Domus
domustiles.co.uk

Stainless steel grab bar
used as towel rail
by Häfele
hafele.com

To see the rest of the USA, visit [dwell.com/
london-bookshelf](http://dwell.com/london-bookshelf)

